Dedication

We, the class of 1950, dedicate this book to John H. Rodman, a competent teacher and a helpful friend.

Ever striving to develop perseverance in the students with whom he comes in contact, and always willing to use that "extra" patience that helps a student over the difficulties and problems of high school life, Mr. Rodman displays an interest in training both mind and character.

His patience and his interest in character-building make him ideal as an adviser to a Hi-Y club. Showing a personal interest in each boy, Mr. Rodman has truly guided his club toward the high standards of Christian character which the Hi-Y proposes . . . clean speech, clean sportsmanship, and clean living.

Foreword

June 15, 1950 . . . this date marks the end of three happy years of high school life for the one-hundredth graduating class from public high schools of Lancaster. Just as they did for the first graduating class, our high school experiences — unforgettable contacts, associations, trials, and decisions — will remain in our minds.

We are striving in this 1950 "Echo" not only to record the story of our life in high school, but also to depict some of the "little things" that will make high school more real to us when we look back in the years to come.

These "little things" symbolize familiar scenes around the school . . . the crowded school bus, the convenient side entrance, the jammed hall intersections, the "gang" in the cafeteria, the over-flowing locker . . . things that add so much to high school life.

This book is intended to be a yearbook rather than just a senior class book. There are sections devoted specifically to the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Anyone — from any class or course — can look at this book and find some phase of it that brings back some special memory.

But to us — the seniors — it is more than a mere record of the events of the past three years. It is a symbol of a stepping stone of our lives. It marks both the end and the beginning — the end of twelve years of school life that will never live again, and the beginning of a new future that will lead us toward the goals we have set.

If this book — the 1950 "Echo" — can in the future serve to bring back memories of high school life as it really was, it has reached its goal.

Our Home Town

Lancaster City, at the turn of the half century, illustrates a charming combination of the old and the new.

Quaint farmers' markets, center of the "Garden Spot of the World," reveal cheerful relationship between city housewives and rural folk. The oldest tobacco shop, hardware store, and department store in the nation contrast with modern shops and five-and-tens.

Few sections of the country enjoy such economic balance as Lancaster, industrial payrolls being approximately the same as farm incomes.

Lancaster is famous as the home of the Amish, Mennonite, and Dunkard religious sects. These sturdy "Pennsylvania Dutch," who are good, thrifty farmers, are largely responsible for the county's impressive crop production.

Situated among rolling hills, covered bridges, old mills, and stone farmhouses, Lancaster's farming countryside is the seat of many famous historical landmarks. The most prominent, "Wheatland," marks the home of James Buchanan, who was the only citizen of Pennsylvania to become President of the United States. North of the city are the Ephrata Cloisters, founded by the Seventh Day Baptists. The birthplace of Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, is located in the southern part of the county.

The Red Rose City lives, however, in the present rather than in the historic associations of the past. It is a thriving community which has preserved the rich heritage of the past.

When the sophomores first entered McKinley High School, it was with mixed feelings of awe, curiosity, and fright. No building ever seemed so large and forbidding.

They will never forget that first assembly, after which they were separated from their friends and left to make their way alone in that strange new place, equipped only with a pencil, a tablet, and a map of the building.

After those first tense days of getting lost in the halls and taking the wrong steps from cafeteria, things settled down to a routine pattern.

With subjects such as biology, algebra, Latin and arithmetic-bookkeeping, the sophomores soon became acquainted with their teachers and fellow students.

When it came time to make club choices for the year, sophomores entered the Vidette club, cheerleading club, leaders club, glee club and others. A group of sophomore boys made up a basketball team which trained them for varsity positions in the next two years.

The class was also represented in the Student Council.

By the time June rolled around the sophomores felt as if they "belonged" and were well equipped to welcome the next class of frightened "sophs."

Student Council

To act as an intermediary group between the student body and the faculty is the main objective of the McCaskey Student Council.

Two assemblies each month are sponsored by this organization. It also publishes and sells the student handbook. And salesmanship is surely a very important part of any council member's make-up.

For example, the council sells candy during the lunch period to buy new band uniforms; hats, namecards, emblems, and pennants to get money for the general fund and it also ushers at concerts which are presented at the school.

1. The first step is to identify the key components of the system. This includes understanding the hardware, software, and data involved. The next step is to define the goals and objectives of the project. This will help to determine the scope of the work and the resources required. The third step is to develop a detailed plan of action. This should include a timeline, a budget, and a list of tasks to be completed. The final step is to implement the plan and monitor progress. This will involve regular communication and reporting to ensure that the project is on track and that any issues are identified and resolved promptly.

The activities of the council are on a national as well as an international basis. In furthering this activity they supplied stamp albums, books, and candy to neighboring veterans' hospitals as well as CARE packages to Holland and France. The group is also negotiating for the adoption of a French school through the Friends Association.

Associated with two state and one national student council groups, the local organization sends delegates to meetings throughout the year. This year representatives went to Coatesville in October and to Carlisle in April.

To create enthusiasm for scholarship, to promote leadership, to develop character, to inspire service, and to encourage continuation of learning are the fundamental purposes of the McCaskey Chapter of the National Honor Society.

To further these aims the organization did much to serve the student body of the school in the past year.

The work of the society was done principally by those twenty seniors who were initiated into the Lancaster Chapter last May. These members were elected into the organization by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership, and character—the cardinal principles of National Honor Societies throughout the country.

The activities of the society are carried on through many committees. Among the most important of these in the past year were: the assembly program committee whose job was the sponsoring of one assembly program a month; the study project committee who changed the material on the school's bulletin board three times a week; the trophy case committee who shined and rearranged the trophies and produced new cases when necessary; and the sportsmanship committee whose purpose it was to promote better sportsmanship in the school.

Headed by Norma Miller and Thomas McFalls, the All School Social Committee began its work in the fall of 1949.

The first job was the selection of eight committee chairmen, whose jobs were to see that the school dances were run smoothly. Filling these positions were James Auman, Joann Butt, Harold Butz, Phyllis Griffith, Beatrice Hartranft, David Rubinowitz, Joan Schotta, and Herbert Stein.

The All School Social Committee sponsored six dances in the gym during the year. The first of these was the Fall Frolic, which featured an autumn theme.

Dogpatch Dip was the name given to the second dance of the year. Square dancing was the main attraction for the dance.

During the basketball season the committee sponsored two Basketball Dances after Friday night home games. Music for these dances was furnished by records.

To celebrate Valentine Day, the committee arranged a Valentine Dance with the Blue Notes Orchestra. Continuing a busy schedule, the All School Social Committee sponsored a Spring Dance as its final affair.

Senior Glee Club

With the traditional two-part version of "Joy of Man's Desiring" as accompaniment, the senior glee club formed the opening candlelight procession at the annual combined glee club Christmas concert, December 10.

The 75 senior glee club members under the supervision of Miss Dorothy L. Stock sang a variety of Christmas songs, ranging from the well known "The Shepherd's Story" to a German folk melody "Lullaby for Christmas Eve" and from the classic "Hallelujah Chorus" to the popular "Rudolph, The Red-nosed Reindeer."

Wearing red robes the singers were in contrast with the decorations of white in the background and several large white snowmen in the foreground.

A featured number on the program was a two-part version of "The Nutcracker Suite" by Berlioz, Smith and Barbara Dunn. These girls also accompanied the choral numbers.

The Christmas Candlelight Procession

Soloists for the evening were John Andreades, James Auman, Shirley Kreider, Betty Melester, Frank Wagner, and Richard Wilson.

Adding a new touch to the concert two instrumental numbers were accompaniment to the glee club. James Buckwalter played the glockenspiel in a song entitled "Tonight." A flute duet by Barbara Fagug and John Gorrecht accompanied "Happy Flocks In Safety Wander."

The final number on the program was a combined glee club and orchestra arrangement of the "Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel.

Soon after the Christmas Concert the daily morning rehearsals resumed, but this time for the forthcoming spring concert. Glee clubbers arrive at school usually about 7:45 several times a week. Members say these routine practices are half the fun of belonging to the club.

With the arrival of spring Miss Dorothy F. Schock's organization turned all attention to their annual spring concert and came up with fine results. Large crowds attended the concert both Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13.

Two of the main numbers in the varied program were a concert version of the opera "Aida," and selections from the now popular "South Pacific." Opening number, "Seraphic Song" by Anton Rubinstein, featured Jean Romig in a violin obligato.

Wearing pastel evening gowns and tuxedos, the singers carried out the spring theme used in the decorations.

Club activities were brought to a close when the combined glee clubs attended a picnic and swimming party at Long's Park.

Barbara Hume and Amy Weaver singing.

Made up of girls from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes, the girls' glee club took an active part in all glee club activities throughout the year.

In the Christmas Concert they sang several numbers combined with the senior group. The girls wore robes like the ones worn by the senior club in the concert.

Soloists were Grace Bowman, Betsy Ettinger, Bar bara Hume, and Amy Weaver in the song "Carol of the Angels."

This group rehearses one morning a week before school. Its 57 members sing numbers in three parts: first soprano, second soprano, and alto. Of its members several are also members of the senior glee club. Sophomore girls, however, will try out for places in the senior group in the fall.

Orchestra

As a climax of its activities of the year, the orchestra presented its concert May 12 and 13. However, this year the organization combined with the glee clubs instead of the band as it had in former years. The orchestra played some selections alone and accompanied the glee club in "South Pacific."

Nine members of the orchestra displayed such talent that they were invited to represent McCaskey at the District Orchestra in Shippensburg.

The orchestra played at the school plays in fall and spring and gave a half hour performance for the school during its assembly program.

With James E. Zwally as Director, assisted by Robert Stoner, senior, the orchestra provided excellent music for McCaskey and Lancaster.

School Plays

The Carltons capture the bandits

For the first school play of the year, the Red Masque Dramatics Club presented "Cuckoos on the Hearth," a mystery comedy by Parker Fennelly.

Drawing large and appreciative audiences both nights of the production, the play was one to be remembered by all.

The cast included Joan Algier, William Carmitchell, Bruce Coble, John Cushman, Harry Fries, Sam Hartman, Paul Hoh, Robert May, Norma Miller, Janice Prange, Betsy Siegler and Susan Willet. Joan Algier, Dorothy Hammon, Leon Hillegas, and Nelson Myers assisted Miss Naomi B. Terry in the directing.

Rehearsals started about six weeks before opening night. The fun started simultaneously and never ceased until the last cuckoo of the clock November 19.

Previews were given for parents and visitors during the Parents' Night program and students saw the same portions during an assembly. Several cast members appeared on the Voice of Vidette.

A special type of preview was initiated this year when portions of the play were presented on television by the cast.

As the second school play of the year, the Red Masque Dramatics Club staged "Quiet Summer," an involved comedy by Marjane and Joseph Hayes.

Leading roles were played by Joan Algier, John Cushman, Ruth Fitz, and Sam Hartman. Other cast members were William Carmichael, Harry Fries, Suzanne Groff, Paul Hoh, James Lutton, Norma Miller, Nelson Myers, Nancy Ott, Janis Prange, Larry Quinn, Betsy Siegler, and Susan Willet.

Student directors, who were of great assistance to Miss Naomi B. Terry, director, were Dorothy Hammon, Paul Hoh, and Alice Swift.

Steady practice for a month and a half resulted in near perfect performances Friday and Saturday nights, March 31 and April 1. Two appreciative audiences will remember "Quiet Summer" for a long time as one of McCaskey's most successful plays.

Before opening night, previews were given on television on the "Voice of Vidette" program, and in an assembly.

Following the play the cast of "Cuckoos on the Hearth" joined with the actors from "Quiet Summer" for a joint celebration at the home of Alice Swift.

To create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character, some one hundred boys organized the McCaskey Hi-Y clubs. As its platform the Hi-Y honors clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship, and clean living.

The governing body of the three clubs is the Hi-Y Interclub Council, headed by the presidents of the clubs. Included in this body are the five officers of each club, the advisers, and the Hi-Y Co-ordinator, Jay F. Ebersole, a former member of the Buchanan Hi-Y.

First on the agenda of the Interclub Council was

Washington

As a result of the merging of two junior Hi-Y's, the Washington Hi-Y was formed in the fall of 1949. Officers elected by the members to lead the club were Harry Fries, president; Victor Lincoln, vice president; Robert May, secretary; Kenneth Kurtz, treasurer; and Thomas Boulton, chaplain. Harold E. Sinclair, commercial teacher at McCaskey, served as adviser.

Movies of school football games featured the club programs in early autumn. For its first social activity of the year, the club held a hayride in October. Many of the boys attended a party at Kepler Lodge during November.

Speakers addressed the club from time to time

Lincoln

One of the most popular junior class organizations is the Lincoln Hi-Y. The Hi-Y strives to carry out worthwhile projects in the school and in the community. The Lincoln Hi-Y combines with the Washington and the Buchanan Hi-Y clubs to sponsor many varied interclub activities. Throughout the whole year, the Lincoln Club has tried to live up to its purpose, which is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character.

To start things off, Edward Slothour was elected president and Tom Headrick served as vice-president. George Bashore was secretary, Donald Mulhatten, the Thanksgiving assembly, when Robert C. Wolpert, McCaskey English instructor, was the speaker. About thirty underprivileged boys were entertained at the Christmas party. Santa Claus distributed gifts to them and refreshments were served.

For the first time the Hi-Y, together with the Y-Teens, introduced the Boy-Girl Relationship course at the Y.W.C.A. Because of the success, the sessions will be an annual program. The Gideons organization distributed New Testaments to the school after an assembly sponsored by the Hi-Y. At the Father and Son assembly in February Jacob L. Hillegas addressed about one hundred Hi-Yers and their fathers.

throughout the year. Among these were H. Grant Hurst and Monroe W. Sloyer, members of the McCaskey faculty. Quiz contests and the serving of refreshments supplied some programs. Toward the end of the hockey season the club went to Hershey to attend a game with New Haven.

For programs during the Lenten season, when social engagements are restricted, the club heard talks by leaders of the Catholic, Jewish, and Protestant faiths.

Following the actions of the senior Hi-Y's of the past few years, the Washington Hi-Y traveled to New York during the Easter vacation. As a climax to their last year of being Hi-Y members, the boys had a dinner-dance in the late spring.

treasurer, and Kearney Snyder was made chaplain.

The main event of the year was the Youth and Government Program at Harrisburg. The junior club was represented by two delegates: Edward Slot-hour, who served as a reporter for the Lancaster, Lebanon, York, and Harrisburg areas; and George Bashore, who was a State Representative from Lancaster City.

During the year the Y-Teen clubs had social gatherings with the Hi-Y club and the Lincoln Hi-Yers conducted various programs such as: hayrides, soup slurps, spaghetti tangles, and movies. Speakers provided educational and entertaining talks. The club was also represented at several Hi-Y conferences.

Buchanan

Organized in October, the Buchanan Hi-Y roster includes twenty-one sophomore boys. As soon as new boys entered the club, they were initiated into the Hi-Y by a ritual.

The first important program of the club was a visit to the television studio of WGAL. Since there weren't many special programs in the fall, the boys conducted business meetings. Among the spring plans of the sophomores were a trip to Hershey and a party.

Although the membership of the club is small, the Buchanan Hi-Y supported the Interclub Council's programs strongly. Officers of the club are Richard Leaman, president; Ned Grove, vice president; Chris McMurtrie, secretary; Donald Weaver, treasurer; and Larry Quinn, chaplain.

Y-Teen Clubs

Y-Teen clubs at McCaskey have an approximate total membership of 750. There are 14 clubs of sophomore, junior, and senior girls.

Activities for the 1949-50 season got underway soon after school opened in September with individual clubs electing officers and planning future meetings.

The first big interclub project was the annual Recognition Service, held this year at First Reformed Church. A new idea was used for the program when three speakers stressed the theme "Racial, Religious, and World Understanding."

All association events that Y-Teens took an active part in were the Folk Festival and the Hanging of the Greens.

Topping the long list of Christmas activities for Y-Teens was the "Sleighbell Frolic," the semi-formal. Many Y-Teens and their dates started their holiday activities at this dance in mid-December.

An entirely new type of project was undertaken with great success soon after Christmas when the Hi-Y and Y-Teen Interclub Councils jointly sponsored a series of boy-girl relations discussions. Outside speakers led the meetings and gave their views. This was the first time the two Y groups ever collaborated on any such event.

During Holy Week the regular club meetings were held jointly in the Y auditorium as an Easter Worship Service.

After Easter the annual Bazaar was held and Y-Teen clubs took over the entire Y W.C.A. for one night. The gym was lined with the traditional booths of all countries. Novelties, flowers, candy, punch, and cookies were among the variety of wares sold.

The closing events of the year included the semi-formal and the Senior Farewell. Sponsored by the Interclub Council, the "semi" was the final all club activity. The Senior Farewell, given by the junior clubs for the seniors, ended three years of Y-Teens for the graduating girls.

Individual club activities for the year included lobby bake sales, spaghetti suppers, parties, dances, packing boxes for underprivileged families, and giving parties for children at the Crispus Attucks Center.

Juniors

For the first time, a major international conference on the World Bank's role in Africa was held in September 1990 in Washington, DC. The conference was organized by the World Bank and the African Development Bank. It was the first time that the two banks had held a joint conference. ## Varsity Football

For the first time in many years the McCaskey gridmen made their debut away from home and lost a close game to West Chester

The following week the team met Upper Darby at home and the new stand was dedicated following the game

The gridgers next traveled to Lebanon, playing the best game of the entire year.

After this outburst of energy the locals played a more reserved game while losing the next six games. The streak was not without its thrills

The McCaskey gridmen lost a hard-fought game to Steelton, and in the season's finale Lancaster broke back into the win column when they scored an impressive victory over York

Despite a dismal 7 lost, 3 won record, the Tornado placed one player, Donald Ziegler, the scrappy 158-pound tackle on the all-league team

A representative of the Central Pennsylvania football sportsmanship committee presented a trophy to McCaskey for the fine sportsmanship which the team, band, cheerleaders, and fans of the Tornado had displayed during the season

With a determined, but usually outclassed squad, the McCaskey J.V.'s of 1949 compiled a record of two wins, five losses.

Under the tutelage of Clifford D. Hartman, the junior Tornadomen opened the season with a victory over the Patton Trade School varsity. Bob Ritter scored four touchdowns for McCaskey.

Next, the J.V. team absorbed an 18-0 defeat by the junior Steamrollers.

In their first home game the locals defeated William Penn, 7-6. Ben Klivanski passed to Mike Polaski and Ronnie McDivitt for the touchdown and game-winning extra point.

Two defeats followed. Lebanon junior varsity shelved the Red and Black juniors by a 30-0 score and Reading eked out a 19-12 victory on the local gridiron.

The final home game with the John Harris J.V.'s ended with the locals on the short end of a 33-6 score.

Although the junior Tornadomen led 18-0 until the fourth period of their final game at York, a desperation spurt in that period gave the White Roses a 20-18 victory.

Soccer

The McCaskey High School 1949 soccer team played ten games during the fall season and ended with a 3 won, 5 lost, 2 tied record.

There were only four returning lettermen to begin the season, and one of the four was injured in the second game. Inability to score at crucial times turned several well-played games into defeats.

Kennett Square proved to be the toughest foe on the schedule as the locals went down to defeat. The Red and Black played their best games against Manor Township and Dillsburg High Schools.

The team captain was chosen before each game. In the Manor game Coach Neely picked Raymond Wolf sophomore, to lead the booters, the first soph ever to be thus designated.

The fact that the varsity basketball team completed the 1949-50 season with a squad of six juniors, a sophomore, and only three boys who will not return for tryouts next winter indicates that Coach Clarence Hendrickson was building for the future during the season.

Since the principal reason for the team's poor record of only four wins in 17 starts seemed to be lack of experience, the coach scheduled numerous post-season scrimmages for the boys who will be back with the team next season.

After starting the season off right with wins over Hanover and Pottstown, the locals hit a snag, and went without a win for nine consecutive games. District 3 PIAA competition seemed to be a bit too tough for the Hendrickson proteges, as they went through the first half of league play without a victory. However, in the second game of the second half, the boys finally came through with a 49-43 victory over John Harris on the local court. Cal Wenger led the Tornado to the victory, scoring 13 points.

Then, after consecutive setbacks by Reading, Steelton, York, and Lebanon, all of whom were contenders for the second half crown, the Red and Black cagers went to Harrisburg for the final game of the season, and came back with a 47-45 victory under their belts. Duane "Ditty" Spiess, sophomore sensation, sparked the victory by scoring 18 points.

Harry Stoe, who scored a total of 219 points during the season, was high scorer for the varsity, and captained the squad.

J. V. Basketball

The junior varsity cagers completed the 1949-50 season with only six wins in 17 starts, but under the tutelage of Coach Harry Langford, they showed constant improvement throughout the season.

Although they had only four victories in league competition, three of them were in the second half of the season. With a few breaks, the I.V.'s could have had four more victories. In all, they lost four games by a margin of three points or less.

High individual scoring honors for the season go to Ben Khivanski, who scored a total of 206 points. Bob Herschok was runner up with 122 points.

Swimming

 Below—Captain Philip Harner swimming his specialty—the backstroke.

With Abe Herr as coach and Philip Harner as captain the swimming team managed to break even with a 7 win, 7 lost record for the season. Contrary to what the record indicates the team had above average talent. However, due to the exceedingly good opposition which the other teams afforded, a team consisting of good but not exceptional swimmers was greatly handicapped. The team as a whole improved as the winter wore on, but the individual swimmers hit their peaks at different times and the net result was a squad of roughly the same scoring ability all season.

William Fisher set a new school record for the individual medley in the Wilmington meet. He was also high scorer for the team.

Having placed in Districts, two swimmers and the freestyle relay team were eligible to compete in the Eastern Regional Championship Meet. Only the relay team went on to the All-State Meet.

Wrestling

The wrestling team began the season under the management of a new coach, E. Jerry Brooks. Only a small number of lettermen returned. Because of these two facts, the team developed slowly, and displayed their best form during the meets at the end of the season, when the varsity squad which had been plagued all season with a weakness in the heavier weights, received surprisingly good support from this division. The season ended with an eight won, two lost record.

In the Shippensburg meet, the McCaskey grapplers set a new school record for scoring in a single meet when they trounced their opposition by a 50-0 score.

Two wrestlers, Robert Miller and Robert Todd, were selected for the League All Star Team. In the District 3 meet three McCaskey grapplers reached the finals and one, Robert Miller, was sent to State where he lost to the champion in a preliminary bout.

Tennis

The tennis team began its 31st year of play when 21 boys reported for practice during the early weeks of September. Only one varsity letterman returned.

The racquetmen played two games with Mt. Joy and won both of them. Following these matches there was a tournament in which the entire squad participated to decide the fall tennis champions. Alveric Kegerreis won the singles championship and John Shenk teamed with George Bashore to clinch the doubles title. Inter-squad matches between seniors and juniors concluded the fall season.

In the middle of March practice began again on McCaskey's courts, then switched to the courts of the Lancaster Tennis Club.

The season started with the J.V.'s winning two of their first three games while the varsity was losing its first match. The J.V.'s competed in the Inter County High School Tennis League.

Joseph Fasnacht captained the varsity. William L. Atchley was coach.

Golf

Practice for the golf team began in the fall. The golfers played once a week at Meadia Heights Golf Club as long as it was practical for them to come out.

Prospects were very good as almost the whole team was back from the previous year. Besides Captain Gary Pleger there were four lettermen returning. Also the play of the seven candidates for team positions was encouraging.

The team did not play much during the early spring because of the rain and cold. The varsity was chosen by a series of matches played between team members. The players rated highest by the results of the matches represented the team in inter-school competition.

Home games were played on the golf courses of both the Meadia and Conestoga Country Clubs.

Joseph Fellows coached the team and Gary Pleger was again elected captain.

Track

McCaskey's 1950 track team was similar to others of recent years in that it had good material in the field events, but faltered in the track section.

The team had trouble all season to score in the sprints, and Don Klugh and Bob Peffley bore the bulk of the load for the Tornado cindermen in that department.

Dave Booth, who proved to give valuable aid in the distance department, was the regular miler for Coach Clarence Hendrickson's squad.

The hurdlers showed more promise, with sophomore Ditty Spiess scoring several victories in the 220-yard low hurdles. Charlie York showed constant improvement in the high hurdle event throughout the season.

Lancaster's 880-yard relay team, composed of Leroy Stauffer, Ducky Suter, Glenn Wolf, Don Klugh, and sometimes Bob Peffley, compiled what was perhaps the best record for the local cindermen in the running class.

Don Ziegler and John Ritchey formed a winning combination in the pole vault.

Jack Better in the shot put, Jerry Saxinger in the javelin throw and Teeter Scott in the discus throw, faced some stiff competition, but scored points regularly.

Lancaster High School's first baseball team since the early '20's lacked the polish of some of the Central Pennsy League teams, but compiled a good record under the handicaps of a sport in its first year at a school.

Practicing on improvised diamonds behind the school and playing its games on the Franklin and Marshall College diamond, the squad won its only pre league game over Manheim Township by a score of 17-11.

Coach Clifford Hartman's diamondmen faced their toughest opponent in their very first game in the league, and lost 8-0 to John Harris. Behind the brilliant pitching of Joe Finger, the squad snapped back quickly to top Stetton 8-2.

Finger, Don Mulhatten, Bob Shomo, and Ronnie Owen did most of the hurling for the locals.

Hitting was a big problem in the opening contest of the year, but helped by Bob Hershock, who hit two home runs in the first three games, the problem diminished with experience.

Intramural Champions

The boys' intramural program under the direction of Rupert A. Williams enjoyed a successful year. The set up of all existing teams was revamped so that a larger number of boys could participate.

Every homeroom organized a team of its own in each sport. In the event that a room didn't have enough eligible boys to compose a team, two rooms would join to form a team.

Likewise the arrangement of the girls' intramural program was changed this year. Intramural teams were chosen from gym classes instead of by individual girls.

Each section of the gym class had its own team and captain. This afforded an opportunity for many girls to participate who formerly were excluded and also to prevent all the good players from joining one team.
